THE FENCIELES' CRUEBRATION OF WASHINGTON BIRTHDAY .- That was, indeed, a splendid fete, which the State Fencibles got up at their armory last night, in bonor of the birth of the illustrious Washington. It is no small gratification to announce that the exertions of these, our citizen soldiers, to revive and kindle into an active glow the smoldering fires of patriotism, as well as to cement more closely the bonds of social pulon and harmony, were appreciated and rewarded by the presence of a large number of guests, both ladies and gentlemen. Bo great was the assemblage, that the Hall was hardly capacions enough for the accommodation of the visitors. But no pains were spared to reoder everything comfortable and agreeable.

The tableaux representing events and scenes in our early history, in which the great Washmoron was a prominent actor, were viewed with spontaneous bursts of applause. The supper was bountiful, and, considering the crowd of guests, was served up in excellent style. The music and dancing, which rounded off the exerciaes of the night, were kept up till Aurora began to show her smilling face at the windows. The guests retired reluctantly from the scene of mirth and festivity, with many thanks to the gallant Fencibles for their magnificent fets on the night of the 22d of February, 1861.

BEPORTED FOR THE STATESMAN. Lincoln Suddenly and Secretly Departs from Harrisburg, and Goes to Washington City Incog!!

Harrisburg, Feb. 23.—The people of this city were astounded this morning by an announcement that Mr. Lincoln had started in a special train for Washington, a dispatch having been received requiring his presence in Washington. Reports are busily created that there was a piot to assassinate him while passing through Baitimore, but such stories are not believed. The Baitimore committee is here, but did not have an interview with Mr. Lincoln.

Ballingon, Feb. 93,—Mr. Lincoln arrived here at 8 o'clock, incog, and went direct to Washington. Mis family and the remainder of his party will arrive at one o'clock. Much excitement is occasioned by the ruse.

Washington, Feb. 23.—Note little sensation prevailed throughout the city this morning, as soon as it became known that Mr. Lincoln had arrived in the early train. It was unsuccessfully sought to conceal the facts, especially from the newspaper press, his presence here being at first communicated to a few political friends in configure.

first communicated to a few political friends in connidence.

He was met at the station by several gentlemen of distinction, without any formality, and was immediately driven to Willard's Hotel. He was yesterday advised to come hither without delay. Preparations had been made to meet him at the station this afternoon, and the Mayor of washington was to make a welcome address; but Mr. Lincoin has thus spoiled the programme.

About IU o'clock Mr. Lincoin, accompanied by Mr. Seward, paid his respects to President Buchanan, spending a few minutes in general conversation. Senator Bigler and Representative Jno. Oochrane happened to be at the White House when he entered, and were accordingly introduced to the President elect. Mr. Lincoin afterward returned to his hotel.

solemnity due such an occasion; the scene being an impressive one.

At the rising of the sun, a crowd of people streamed from all parts of the city towards the State House, and very soon every inch of ground was occupied. A vast number of ladies were present.

The weather was cool and bracing. At 7 o'clock Mr. Lincoln was ascorted to the hall and there received by Theodore Cuyler, who warmly welcomed him to its year-scale walls in the hour of national parts and distress, when the great work achieved by the wisdom and patriotism of our fathers seems threatened with instant rain.

Mr. Lincoln responded as follows:

Mr. Cuyler: I am filled with deep emotion at finding myself standing here in this place, where were collected together the windows, patriotism and devotion to principle, from which sprang the institutions under which we live. You have kindly suggested that in my hands is the task of restoring peace to the present distracted condition of the country.

of restoring peace to the present distracted condition of the country.

I have often inquired of myself what great principle or idea it was that kept this Confederacy so long together. It was not the mere matter of the separation of co.onies from the mother land, but that sentiment in the Declaration of Independence which gave linerty not alone to the people of this country, but I hope to the world in all fature time. In replying to the address, he said he did'nt appear to make a appeach. This well known the more a man speaks the less he understands. The more he says one thing his advarsaries contend he means to say something else.

HARRIBEURO, PA. Feb. 52 — The train strived at two o'clock, and was received with salutes and cheers. The town is extensively decorated with bunting. Mr. Lincoln was escorted by the military to the Jones House, where he was introduced to a crowd of five thousand by the Governor, who welcomed him to the capital of the State. He said that in case reconciliation fails, they will be ready to aid, by men and money, to maintain the Constitutions.

be ready to aid, by men and money, to maintain the Constitution.

Mr. Lincoln returned thanks, and referring to the destruction of the country, he trusted that arms would never become necessary to avert that calamity. He must be sustained by the people. He brought an earnest heart to the work, and it should be no fault of his if he falled.

The President than proceeded to the Capitol, where he was welcomed by the Speakers of the Senate and House. Mr. Lincoln responded:

I appear before you only for a very few brief remarks in response to what has been said to me. I thank you most sincerely for this reception, and the generous word in which support has been promised me upon this occasion. I thank your great commonwealth for the overwhelming support it gave, not me personally, but the cause—I think a just ene—in the late election. (Applause.) Allusion has been made to the fact, the interesting fact, perhaps we should say, that I for the first time appear at the Capital of the great commonwealth of Pennsylvania on the birthday of the Father of his Country.

In connection with that beloved anniversary connected with the history of this country. I have already gone through one interesting scene this morning, in the ceremonies at Philadelphia, under the kind conduct of gentlement there. I was for the first time allowed the privilege of standing in old Independence Hall, (enthusiastic appliance,) to have a few words addressed me there and opening up to me an opportunity of expressions with much regret that I had no more time to express something of my own feelings, and somewhat to harmonize and give shape to thefeelings that had been really the feelings of my wonle life.

Allusion has also been made by one of your honored speakers to some remarks recently made by myself at Interest of this great Commonwealth. I now wish only to say in regard to that matter, that the few remarks which I uttered on that occasion were rather carefully worded, and I have seen no occasion since to add to them or subtract, from them. In Parliament Lord Palmeraton stated that instructions had been sent to the Governor General of Canada not to give up Anderson without express orders from the Imperial Government, and that there was therefore no chance of his being surrendered without the point being fally discussed. He could not say whether a habeau copying fally discussed. He could not say whether a habeau cover writ would be obeyed in Ganada, but it could not be executed immediately, as the 8t Lawrence river was blocked up with loc, and it was impossible to take him through American territory. He believed the case according to the treaty, was quite often, and that the claim of the United States must be established by showing that Anderson was guilty of murder according to the laws of England. No English jury could convict Anderson of murder, and the claim was not likely to be substantiated. The new Indian loan of three million pounds, was all swarded at, and above 96½ per cent., which was the minimum fixed by the Government. Celebrations of Washington's Birthday.

Celebrations of Washington's Birthday.

GHCAGO, Feb. $2.—The celebration to alsy of the one hundred and twenty-ninth anniversary of the birthday of Washington, was the grandest affair of the kind ever had in this city. A saints of 100 guns was fired by the Light Artillery, and all the bells of the city rung. The procession formed at 11 o'clock, not less than two miles long. All trades were represented all persons, without respect to party, took part. The streets through which the procession passed were densely growded with people. At the Wigwam an immense meeting was held, Judge Drummond, of the United States Court, presiding. Elequent patrictic speeches were made by Judge Drummond, Gov. McComas and Judge Enox. All the hotels, the theatres, and several private residences were handsomely decorated with American flass. This evening there will be a grand banquet at the Ruggs House. Dispatches from the interior towns of Illinois show that the day was very generally observed.

Land for Sale.

IRANE AROUT 690 ACRES OF A.

I new Farm situated in the county of Marion and State of Ohio, on the big Sciete Blver, six miles west of the town of Marion; it is all fenced in, about 300 acres deadingd from four to eight years. A good new Frame flouse on it, about 50 acres cleared; a good log Stable;
about 150 young Irais trees; a first rate well of water, the deading is well set in the tame grass, and the big flotto for atockwater. And I will make 100 acres more ready for the plow, take off all the timber, under fifteen inches, so as to make 150 acres of plow land. The land is of the very best quality, and I will take 395 per acre for it. I consider it worth at least thirty three per acre with 100 acres more cleared, but I must sall it, therefore I will put it down ten dollars below what I think it worth if I were not obliged to sell. I have also another half section for sale, lying in the sums section, one half deadened, which I offer for $15 per seres. Reference can be had by calling on Joseph Rentek who knows all about the land, or on the proprietor in Marion.
